HRWorX appointed as official Joint Venture (JV) Partner with the National Technical Information Service (NTIS)

HRWorX officially became a Joint Venture (JV) Partner with the National Technical Information Service (NTIS) <http://www.ntis.gov/>. NTIS serves as the largest central resource for government-funded scientific, technical, engineering, and business related information available today. For more than sixty years, NTIS has supported the Department of Commerce mission to promote the nation's economic growth by providing access to information that stimulates innovation and discovery.

NTIS will provide government secure software and a full range of web hosting services along with Federal project management for the HRWorX suite of software solutions, including; EODonline™, Financialonline™ and TeleWorX™. All three of these software solutions are in production at various government agencies. Through this joint venture arrangement, NTIS offers our mutual clients full program and financial management services, customer assistance center and helpdesk support plus a Federal IT staff dedicated to our clients' programs. Once engaged through a Memorandum of Understanding with NTIS, we collaborate to develop a customized project plan to meet each Federal agency client's specific requirements

NTIS has already started the process of creating a first-of-its-kind Entry On Duty (EOD) user's group. The purpose will be to have agency appointed representatives attend regular meetings to discuss the future direction of the automation for Entry On Duty for federal government and to have the opportunity to represent needs specific to their own agency. User group committees involving major government initiatives, such as EOD, that have reaching impact across government are commonplace and have proven beneficial to all participating entities. To participate in the EOD user's group, please contact Patricia Gresham on 703.605.6123 and pgresham@ntis.gov.
